Lecture Topics

1. REVISITING FAMILY LORE WITH NEW RESEARCH TOOLS

Many genealogists inherit powerful family stories that deserve careful re-examination. This session explores how newly available digital archives, artificial intelligence tools and expanded historical resources can help place family traditions into clearer historical context. Participants will learn ways to thoughtfully separate myth from documented history while still honoring the emotional truth these stories have carried through generations.

2. CREATING A FAMILY HISTORY BOOK YOUR FAMILY WILL ACTUALLY READ

Practical strategies for organizing photos, documents, and family stories into a legacy format that future generations will engage with. Using real-world examples, including online photo book tools, this session explores how to decide what truly matters to include, how to shape a meaningful narrative, and how to present family history in ways that are clear, engaging, and lasting.
